

Use of the Portex Suctionaid Tracheostomy Tube

UR: _____
 Surname: _____
 Given Name(s) _____
 Date of birth: _____
 Affix Patient Label Here

Note: This is a supporting document only. Clinicians are advised to use the Tracheostomy Clinical Procedure: The BlueLine Ultra Suctionaid Tracheostomy Tube as a primary instruction.

This patient has been assessed for use of the Suctionaid TT.

TUBE INFORMATION	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The Suctionaid tracheostomy tube (TT) is a cuffed, tube which has an above-cuff suction line and thumb control valve (port).</li> <li>The Suctionaid TT allows the clinician to remove pooled subglottic secretions via above-cuff suctioning.</li> <li>The tube also provides the opportunity for speech in the presence of an inflated cuff (it is a type of 'talking tracheostomy tube').</li> </ul>
ABOVE CUFF SUCTIONING	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Suction above the cuff with caution.</li> <li>Do not continue to suction for only minimal amount of secretions due to the risk of upper airway trauma.</li> </ul> Method 1 - Syringe <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Use a 10 ml syringe, applying negative pressure with the plunger.</li> </ul> Method 2 - Wall Suction <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Where available, use low pressure wall suction.</li> <li>Do not apply constant suction above cuff. Use brief, intermittent occlusion of the thumb control valve.</li> <li>Above-cuff suctioning should be performed at least once per shift or as per the following:                  _____</li> </ul>
VOICING	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Wait 72 hours post initial insertion before using the Suctionaid TT for voicing.</li> <li>Patient able/unable to use the Suctionaid TT for voicing:                  _____</li> </ul>
CONTACT	_____ Speech Pathologist _____ Pager or TRAMS pager 1291

Copyright © 2013 by Austin Health

Disclaimer: This document has been developed by Austin Health and has been specifically designed for Austin Health circumstances. Austin Health shall not be liable for any claims or loss arising from the use of this document and information in any organisation outside of Austin Health. Other clinicians and institutions are granted licence to use this Clinical Instruction Sheet and to modify it for their own purposes. It is a condition of this licence that Austin Health TRAMS is acknowledged within all educational and promotional activities where versions of this document are used. The information is current at the date of printing. Clinical practices may change and updates to this material will not be provided by Austin Health.

This Clinical Instruction Sheet relates to the use of the Portex Suctionaid Tracheostomy Tube. If another type of tube is used, this information will not apply. It is the responsibility of the user to obtain the manufacturer's specifications. This is not an endorsement of this Portex product and Austin Health has not received any financial recompense for use of this Portex tube.